Dana Aftermarket Last Mile Delivery Applications

Last Mile Delivery – Partner with Dana

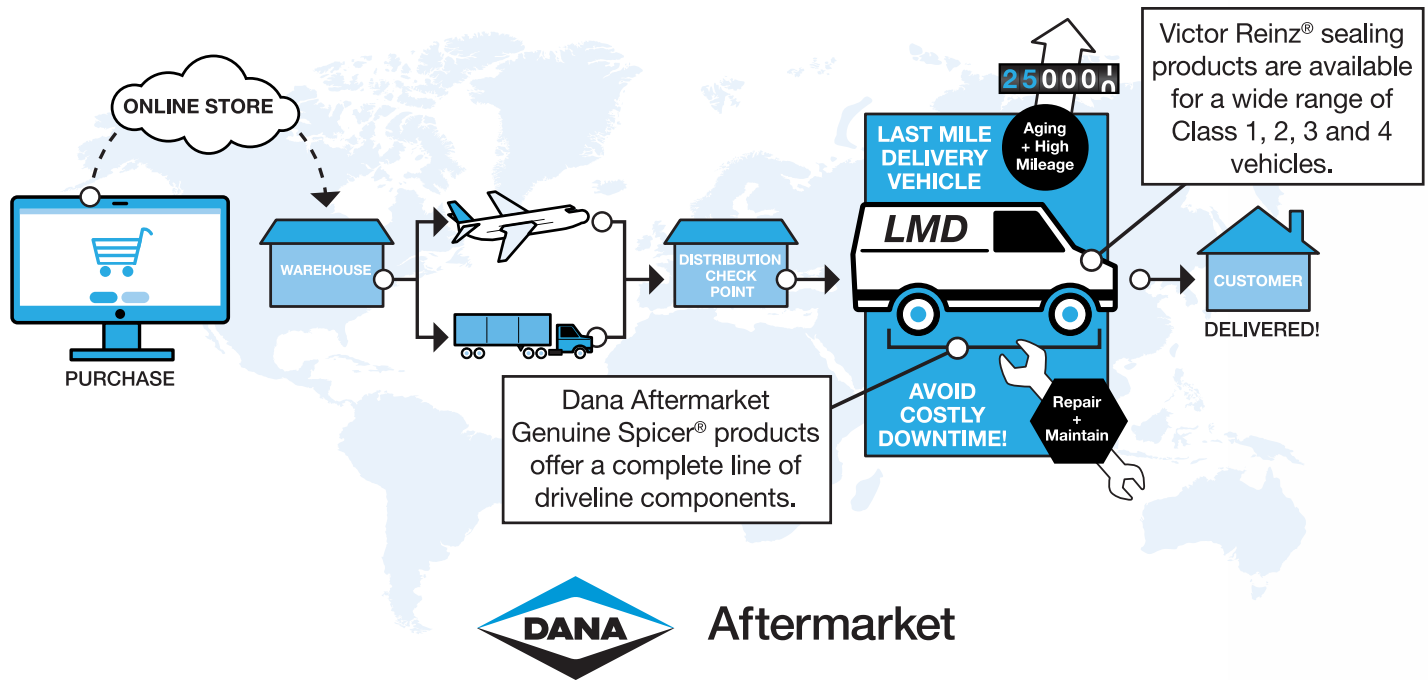

The trend in last mile delivery is driving an increase in light and medium-duty van platforms. As these delivery vehicles travel local and regional delivery routes, extended idling periods and stop-and-go driving styles place a strain on engine and driveline components. These stresses will ultimately increase service frequency, putting you in a position to grow your business—especially if you select the right parts for the job.

Challenges and Opportunities

With the dramatic rise in delivery van popularity and utilization comes the necessity to service these hard-working vehicles. The increased stress placed on all systems means that downtime is inevitable. The cost of downtime goes beyond the price of the repair, so getting back on the road quickly, with quality parts, is a priority.

Deliver to the last mile, with Dana Aftermarket Genuine Spicer® driveline components and Victor Reinz® engine gaskets.

PROBLEM

“With the Last Mile Deliveries market set to skyrocket, how can my shop share in those profits – while dealing with the complexity of global vehicles?”

SOLUTION
